All Sorts of Paragraphs.
 $1,000 Lexington (Ky.) city bonds sold at 40 in New York, on Friday.
 Among the curiosities shown at Ainswick Castle, England, is a vase that was taken from an Egyptian catacomb. It is full of a mixture of SANTA ANNA.—The renowned ex-Dictator of Mexico is still at St. Thomas, West Indies, having recently purchased a palace and grounds, for which he paid $40,000. Senora Santa Anna has quit, gone to Havana in disgust, Senor S. A. having gone into the multiplicity business of

Bro. Brigham Young's style.

Forefathers' Day was celebrated in Massachusetts with great enthusiasm. At Plymouth, the public exercises differed from the customary usage; Mr. Everett's oration on Washington being substituted for the ceremonies which have hitherto taken place. The oration was delivered in Davis Hall, before a very large audience, and was prefaced by a few remarks from Mr. Everett, suitable to the occasion. The "Standish Guards" turned out on one occasion.

celebrated by the Massachusetts Historical Society. The Hon. Robert C. Winthrop made an address, and sundry historical incidents were narrated by different gentlemen.

The Charleston papers announce the serious illness of Mr. J. E. Murdoch, the tragedian, in that city. He was unable to perform on Friday night.

The prowess of Imperial Eugenie has spread a contagion of Diana Veronism among the ladies of France. All the autumn not only archery and fencing has had its fair adepts, but rowing matches on the Seine, between St. Cloud and St. Germain, were feminine amusements; and Mlle. Alphonse C———, gathered an oar or scull against all comers. It is true that Madame Lefay has been for some years a prominent winner on the turf; and as to game licenses, lady fowlers have paid the tax at Strasburg, Melun, Lille, Tours and Poitiers.

127 Within the last three years, the number of unknown persons who have died in New York has averaged 500 per annum. This seems almost incredible. How many tales of sorrow and suffering are connected with these mysterious records!

128 Mr. Saub perceived that the milk he was pouring into his coffee cup was none of the richest. On this he said to his hostess, " Haven't you any think that is more cheerful than this?" "What do you mean by that?" "Why, this milk seems overpowered by the blues."

✓ In a case of breach of promise, seduction, etc., in the Crawford (Ohio) common pleas court, a Miss Jarvis was plaintiff, and H. D. E. Johnson defendant. The case was tried on two different indictments. The first charge—breach of promise to the family, etc., for which the plaintiff got judgment for $3,500. The second charge—breach of promise, seduction, etc.—was recently disposed of, in which action the plaintiff received judgment for $3,800. Perhaps such verdicts are calculated to protect females, and, perhaps, they are calculated to hold out inducements.

ALL'S WELL.—A Gentle, last week, ran away with a pretty Miriam, the daughter of a Cincinnati pawnbroker. They were traced to St. Louis, where the father had the youth arrested for abduction. By some means, the little Jewess succeeded in obtaining permission to visit him in his cell. Miriam is now in the hands of the law.

and while the attention of the jailer was diverted, the parties were made one by the magistrate, and the Hebrew's plans were defeated in the twinkling of an eye. Woman's wit saved the lover. In the afternoon the father withdrew his complaint, and the happy couple went on their way rejoicing.

☞ When the London Times condescends to speak of us and our affairs, the usual characteristic of its remarks are "great ability of character," "great energy," "great activity," "great

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Williams have been the recipients of an absurdly enthusiastic ovation in Dublin. After playing for a charitable institution they started for their hotel in their carriage, but the populace, in spite of repeated remonstrances, insisted on driving them home.—Mr. Williams, finding his entreaties in vain, quit the vehicle, and, with Mrs. Williams, proceeded on foot, saying that he respected his friends.

Gov. Lowe, of Iowa, is again very ill, and fears of his death are entertained.

DISTRESSING SCIENCE—A young man named Joseph Kilmore, aged 17 years, committed suicide at Lewisburg, York county, Pa., last week, by shooting himself in the abdomen with a pistol. A few days before he had accidentally shot his brother in the face with some powder and the MURDER.—An insane man, named Augustus Pitt, was murdered in his cell at York (Pa.) almshouse on Wednesday night last, by another insane man, whose name is not known. The two were confined in one apartment, and the dead was done with a broken spoon. One of Pitt's eyes was pierced out, and the wound penetrated the brain, thus causing his death.

JAIL DELIVERY.—Ten prisoners escaped from the State prison at Columbus, Ohio, on Sunday. These desperadoes broke from their confinement by sawing off the hinges of the door in the grating partition at the west end of the jail, and knocking a hole through the wall, separating the jail from the vaults under the court house, ascending the steps to the entryway, and boldly walked out of the front door on High street.

AN ELOPEMENT.—The curious, in a certain street up town, are at present greatly exercised by a piece of scandal involving the domestic relations of a down-town merchant. This merchant is reputed wealthy, and his brown stone house, furnished in elegant style, has been the scene of many princely entertainments by night; and, through the door, carriages might have been seen "arriving and departing" at all hours. The philosophy of the family indicated the smallest possible degree of self-denial, and a warm love champagne bottles, it is said, was taken away weekly. It appears that while the merchant has been busy with his customers and acquaintances in other parts of the city, his wife has not been idle at home. A flashing young man was duly installed as gallant-general of the establishment, and, it would seem, performed his part in a manner so satisfactory that the lady of the house fell in love with him. At last, on Thursday or Friday last, the merchant suddenly found his home deserted.

ACCIDENT TO LOUIS NAPOLÉON.—The French Emperor's horse fell with him lately while climbing a bank in the forest of Compiègne. Both horse and rider rolled to the bottom of the embankment, and, the journals being forbidden to mention the matter, it is supposed that his Majesty was severely contusionné; and the suspicion is increased by the seizure and persecution of a poor

YELLOW FEVER.—The last death from yellow fever in New Orleans, occurred on Dec. 12th.—From June 27th, when the first death took place, to that time, there were 4,355 victims of this dreadful scourge, and 8,704 deaths of all diseases. The

A dangerous young widow of thirty, in Ludlow, Mass., with four dead or discarded husbands, has torn a young lad of eighteen years from his afflicted parents in the same town, and taken him to bed and board as No. 5. The parents locked up the boy, but the widow was too smart for them, got him out, and fled with him to Pal-

NEGRO MURDERER BURNED—The Montgomery Ala. Mail learns that the negro who murdered Mrs. Walter Jenkins, of Pike county, Alabama, on Monday, the 18th inst., was subsequently burnt to death. It appears that the negro attempted to burn a mill in the neighborhood, for which his master whipped him. He then sought the first opportunity to kill his master, which he did, as before mentioned, with an axe. He ran

WAR IN KANSAS.—FORT SCOTT TAKEN BY MONTGOMERY.—We learn through Thomas Murray, Esq., editor of the Warsaw Democrat, the following particulars in regard to a recent outrage by footgentry's banditti—Mr. R. H. Melton, of Warsaw, being Mr. Murray's informant.

On Wednesday night, the 18th, two hundred men, led by Montgomery, stole upon the town, taking the people of Fort Scott unawares, Mr. Melton, (who had visited Fort Scott on bu-

The Bates county Standard of the 11th, in giving an account of the troubles in Linn county, Kansas, between the citizens and Montgomery's band of outlaws, corroborates the statement made by our correspondent two weeks since,—

"The citizens of Lincoln county have organized, and are resolved on the arrest of Montgomery and his men—writing being in the hands of the officers for that purpose. At the latest information Montgomery, with about seventy men, were erecting fortifications."
